

Letters From The Ungrateful Dead – A Grieving Mom’s Surprising Correspondence With Her Deceased Adult Daughter

-----

Potential book club questions.

1. What parts of the book resonated with you and why?
2. When Hilee was thirteen, Deborah suddenly understood this difficult daughter of hers was her teacher. Who have been your life teachers? Were some of your teachers difficult?
3. Deborah just wanted her daughter to be happy and she tried to help Hilee reach happiness. How did that work for her?
4. Have you ever tried to help an important friend or relative become happier? How did that work for you?
5. Hilee felt her mom never really understood her depression. Have you ever battled with a physical or mental challenge and felt misunderstood?
6. What were your takeaways from Letters?
7. If you could write to someone who has passed on, who would you write to? What would you want to say?
8. If you could receive a message or note from someone who has passed on, who would you want to hear from? What would you want them to say?
9. What other thoughts or issues did this book bring up for you?